

Merdeka Day

By - Lim Xin Faye

Independence Day is also called Merdeka Day, it's a very important day for Malaysians. Merdeka Day is celebrated on 31 August in Malaysia because it commemorates the Malayan Declaration of Independence. And every year, flags are lifted high, and the national anthem is sung while grand parades light up the arena of Dataran Merdeka to celebrate this special day.

The meaning of national independence is that Malaysia has its own government and is not ruled by any other country, and our flag symbolizes this.

As I am a Malaysian, what Merdeka Day means to me is getting together to celebrate in unity for the love of our country MALAYSIA. I take pride in our nationality, to be called a Malaysian.
